

UTAH RIFERS
FOR ATLANTAChapman and Samuelson to Enter
Six-day Race.

FORMER VISITING THERE

IAS WRITTEN PROVO MAN
ABOUT THE RACE.

Johnnie Chapman intends to enter the racing game at Atlanta, his former home. Here is what the Atlanta Journal has to say about him:

"Johnnie Chapman, the well known local cyclist who for the past two years has resided at Salt Lake City, Utah, says he has decided to enter the local racing game once more and remain at his old home. In several six-day races he put on at the new velodrome, Chapman says he will enter and that he will bring an old side partner of his from Utah to Atlanta to show local cyclists a few new tricks at the cycle game.

"Salt Lake City is a great cycle town," says Chapman, "and they have a bunch of fast people out there who could stand well with the best in the land. They take a heap of interest in sprint and long-distance racing, and there are several of them who compare with the best racers in this part of the country, and the main I bring over as my team mate is a case of Walter or any of the eastern cranks."

It was learned yesterday that the main Chapman has reference to is Walter, who is a well known cyclist in V. E. Samuelson, the unpaid champion of the world. Samuelson, who is in the city at the present time, has received a letter from Chapman asking him if he would go to Atlanta and ride as his team mate. Samuelson says he is only too willing to go, and thinks he can hold his own in the race, and he is now awaiting a reply from Chapman as to whether the race will be pulled off or not, and if it is he will at once leave for Atlanta and commence training for the event.

ODDEN MUTES, 28; SOLDIERS 11.

Lieutenant Clark's Team Is Making a Much Better Showing.

Lieutenant Clark's Fort Douglas basketball team journeyed to Ogden yesterday and met the Ogden Mutes in a match game. The Ogden team won by a score of 25 to 11. There was quite a large crowd present and, according to Lieutenant Clark, it was a very enthusiastic one.

An amusing feature happened in the game, which is out of the ordinary. Yovell, one of the Fort Douglas players, was struck in the face by the ball, which was thrown by the Ogden team. The ball struck Yovell on the nose and dropped in the Ogden basket. The play scored two points for the Soldiers and Yovell was advised by the other players to try the same trick again. But Yovell and Lauder did the star work for the Soldiers.

Lieutenant Clark said last evening that he was well pleased with the way his team was playing today and thought that with a little more practice they would be heard from. Thursday's game against the L. D. S. U. was the last of the season for the Soldiers. They are anxious to meet any and all teams from now on.

GRANEY TO REFEREE.

Hanlon Finally Consents to Well Known California Man.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—Eddie Granev was tonight selected to referee the fight between Young Corbett and Hanlon. The Californian announced positively today that he would fight in Granev's stead as the referee. Corbett's choice was Granev or Harry Corbett, but the latter declined to serve.

A meeting was held tonight. Young Corbett flatly declined to fight with Granev, and after some argument Hanlon's backers consented to allow Granev to referee. Hanlon's objection to the referee was alleged favoritism shown the champion in the past but Granev has been declared a fair referee. The Californian declares that he should have been given the decision over the champion.

Martin Brady a Big Upset.

Los Angeles, Dec. 26.—Favorites won the first two races of the six-day cycle race. The first race was won by the European cycling team, with the exception of the fifth. This was won by Martin Brady at 20 to 1, and was the biggest upset of the day. Ramsey's Bang of E. Shaw and Bragg, both of which he landed in front, was the popular feature of the day. Bragg was heavily played, as he was the favorite in the same race. The books held Warte tight at 7 to 10.

Walworth to Race Abroad.

Bobby Walworth, the "Dixie Flyer," winner with Benny Murrow of the six-day cycle race, has decided to leave for Europe with his brothers for an extended European cycling tour. Walworth will leave in a few days and will spend three months in racing at Paris, Berlin and Vienna. He will make a determined effort to eclipse the one-hour record of fifty-four and three-fourths miles.

The Interference?

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

Judge Somerville of the board of United States general appraisers tells a story of a woman who was the chief justice of the supreme court of Alabama, who, in his opinion, was one of the most remarkable men of the last half-century. He has been an active member and frequent leader of every political party—Whig, Know-Nothing, State's Rights Democrat, Secessionist, and finally Republican.

"In 1860," said Judge Somerville, "Judge Rice was a strong advocate of secession, and was induced to stump the mountain regions of Alabama, where Union sentiment was strong. After the disastrous close of the war he became a leader of the Republican party, believing the fate of the South could thus better be controlled by the old Southern leaders."

He was again making a speech in the late '60s in north Alabama to an audience, many of whom had heard him advocate secession in the middle of the war, when he was most eloquently discussing on the advantages of Alabama resulting her normal place in the Union, a Confederate marked with many wounds and scars.

"Mr. Rice, may I ask you a question, sir?"

"Certainly," said Rice.

"Want it you who told our people up here, sir, when you spoke to us before the war, that we could lick the Yankees with our guns?"

"Yes," said Rice, "I did say that, my friend, and we could easily have done it, but the Yankees wouldn't fight us that way."

"Very Likely."

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

Moher-Car Koh has been talking a good bit about the scholarships at his college. What are they, do you know?

Father—Why, eight-cent shells, I suppose.

LATES IN THE GOSP
THE BIG FIGHT
BUT LITTLE MENCorbett and Hanlon Are Both
Working Hard.

FORMER WILL MAKE WEIGHT

SAYS HE WILL HAVE NO DIFFICULTY
IN REACHING 120 LBS.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—When Eddie Hanlon had concluded his fight this afternoon, he was asked by a reporter, "Young Corbett," at the end of his day's exercise, "Will you be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett?"

"I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett." "I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett."

Notwithstanding all that is said about his age, "Pitt" is a boy. A big, round, nerve force, he is all angles, like a trolley car, and not just so graceful—except in the ring. He is a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast League will be held in San Francisco on Monday, Dec. 28. It will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west. The league will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west.

Arthur Duffy, the American Intercollegiate and international sprinter of Georgetown university, has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

Catcher Frary, who played with Helena and Spokane last year, is spending the winter in Seattle. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

There is a plan being talked of to give San Francisco a new stadium for the Pacific National League. The plan is to build a new stadium for the Pacific National League.

WOMAN AS A DETECTIVE.

Miss Edith King Has Captured Nearly
1,000 Deserters.

"One of the slickest women detectives with whom I have ever come in contact," said a detective of Philadelphia, whose record shows the capture of nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces. Miss Edith King has captured nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces.

"Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'." "Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'."

"On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed." "On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed."

FARMER RELATES HOW HE PRODUCED A
FEAK MELON.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"Speaking of farming," said the man with the cinnamon beard, "I can't help thinking of a 10-acre patch I had on a hillside in Ohio, away back in the '30s."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"You know they're three-cornered. Well, you may believe me or not, but after a lot of experimenting I succeeded in producing a cracker-shaped beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

Corbett and Hanlon Are Both
Working Hard.

FORMER WILL MAKE WEIGHT

SAYS HE WILL HAVE NO DIFFICULTY
IN REACHING 120 LBS.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—When Eddie Hanlon had concluded his fight this afternoon, he was asked by a reporter, "Young Corbett," at the end of his day's exercise, "Will you be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett?"

"I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett." "I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett."

Notwithstanding all that is said about his age, "Pitt" is a boy. A big, round, nerve force, he is all angles, like a trolley car, and not just so graceful—except in the ring. He is a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast League will be held in San Francisco on Monday, Dec. 28. It will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west. The league will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west.

Arthur Duffy, the American Intercollegiate and international sprinter of Georgetown university, has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

Catcher Frary, who played with Helena and Spokane last year, is spending the winter in Seattle. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

There is a plan being talked of to give San Francisco a new stadium for the Pacific National League. The plan is to build a new stadium for the Pacific National League.

WOMAN AS A DETECTIVE.

Miss Edith King Has Captured Nearly
1,000 Deserters.

"One of the slickest women detectives with whom I have ever come in contact," said a detective of Philadelphia, whose record shows the capture of nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces. Miss Edith King has captured nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces.

"Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'." "Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'."

"On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed." "On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed."

FARMER RELATES HOW HE PRODUCED A
FEAK MELON.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"Speaking of farming," said the man with the cinnamon beard, "I can't help thinking of a 10-acre patch I had on a hillside in Ohio, away back in the '30s."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"You know they're three-cornered. Well, you may believe me or not, but after a lot of experimenting I succeeded in producing a cracker-shaped beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

Corbett and Hanlon Are Both
Working Hard.

FORMER WILL MAKE WEIGHT

SAYS HE WILL HAVE NO DIFFICULTY
IN REACHING 120 LBS.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—When Eddie Hanlon had concluded his fight this afternoon, he was asked by a reporter, "Young Corbett," at the end of his day's exercise, "Will you be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett?"

"I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett." "I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett," said Hanlon, "and I will be able to make weight for the fight with Corbett."

Notwithstanding all that is said about his age, "Pitt" is a boy. A big, round, nerve force, he is all angles, like a trolley car, and not just so graceful—except in the ring. He is a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing. He proved his friendship for the mayor of Buffalo in the morning, and in the afternoon he was a champion of boxing.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast League will be held in San Francisco on Monday, Dec. 28. It will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west. The league will be definitely settled whether the league will return to a California base or whether it will remain in the west.

Arthur Duffy, the American Intercollegiate and international sprinter of Georgetown university, has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

Catcher Frary, who played with Helena and Spokane last year, is spending the winter in Seattle. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League. He has been elected to the position of president of the Pacific Coast League.

There is a plan being talked of to give San Francisco a new stadium for the Pacific National League. The plan is to build a new stadium for the Pacific National League.

WOMAN AS A DETECTIVE.

Miss Edith King Has Captured Nearly
1,000 Deserters.

"One of the slickest women detectives with whom I have ever come in contact," said a detective of Philadelphia, whose record shows the capture of nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces. Miss Edith King has captured nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces.

"Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'." "Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'."

"On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed." "On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed."

FARMER RELATES HOW HE PRODUCED A
FEAK MELON.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"Speaking of farming," said the man with the cinnamon beard, "I can't help thinking of a 10-acre patch I had on a hillside in Ohio, away back in the '30s."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"You know they're three-cornered. Well, you may believe me or not, but after a lot of experimenting I succeeded in producing a cracker-shaped beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

TOM ECK TELLS HOW SIX-DAY
BICYCLE RACES ORIGINATED

Tom Eck, the veteran cyclist and trainer of bicycle races, gives an interesting account of the origin of six-day bicycle racing.

"Six-day bicycle racing originated in England about thirty years ago," he says. "The first contest was held in the early '70s at Bingley Hall, Bingley, Yorkshire. It was a two-day race, and such as the riders as George Waller, George Molton, Oliver Dettler and Harry Higham competed in it. A little while later there was an eight-hour-a-day race at the Victoria in London. On that occasion Waller took one of the old high wheels, with its saddle as hard as wood, and rode it for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"In 1874, however, the contest was changed to a four-day race, and was held at the Victoria in London. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

"The first six-day race was held in America at Washington, D. C., in 1881. It was won by George Waller, who rode for twenty-four hours, and was the first to finish."

WOMAN AS A DETECTIVE.

Miss Edith King Has Captured Nearly
1,000 Deserters.

"One of the slickest women detectives with whom I have ever come in contact," said a detective of Philadelphia, whose record shows the capture of nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces. Miss Edith King has captured nearly 1,000 deserters from Uncle Sam's land and sea fighting forces.

"Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'." "Miss King has been so successful in tracing deserters from the army and navy, that she has been called the 'Queen of the Deserters'."

"On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed." "On several occasions she had narrow escapes. Once a sailor she had arrested fired at her, but fortunately his aim was bad and she escaped unharmed."

FARMER RELATES HOW HE PRODUCED A
FEAK MELON.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"Speaking of farming," said the man with the cinnamon beard, "I can't help thinking of a 10-acre patch I had on a hillside in Ohio, away back in the '30s."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"You know they're three-cornered. Well, you may believe me or not, but after a lot of experimenting I succeeded in producing a cracker-shaped beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

"Yes, it would be a big farm for you, anywhere. The piece of ground right below mine, as I was going to tell you, was owned by a string, hatchet-faced fellow named a cracker named a beech nut and a watermelon, all right, of course, but it was shaped like a beech nut, and it wouldn't roll down the hill."

"That's a pretty good sized farm in Ohio, isn't it?" interrupted the man who had his feet on the table.

TOM ECK TELLS HOW SIX-DAY
BICYCLE RACES ORIGINATED

Tom Eck,